

About our Fundraising

The Annascaul Beerfest has two main aims:

1. To donate money to charities and local causes
2. To put on a great event doing it

In the past we have donated to the Annascaul sports centre (2008), defibrillators for same (2009), Bee for Batters (2010) and the Annascaul Tidy Towns Action Group last year.

This year we will be donating to Kerry Respite Care. Last year we managed to donate €3,000 and with your help we can beat this figure.

How you ask?

We buy premium world beers from Beer Heaven, the number one importer of premium world beers in Ireland. We put them in five of the villages pubs and sell them for €4 a bottle. All of our profits from this go into the fund. You can also buy six beer vouchers for €20 from our festival desk

Also we hold a raffle every year so if you are not a beer drinker you can still contribute in this way. The raffle will be held on the Sunday.

Thirdly we order and sell limited edition merchandise. We have had T-shirts the last two years but maybe this year we might have something different...

Annascaul Beerfest

— sponsored by Tom Crean's Premium Irish Lager

August Bank Holiday
4 & 5 August 2012

Welcome

Having the Craic

The most important thing in the world to us is that you have fun at the Annascaul Beerfest. If we can host a fun event then you will be glad to support us and in turn the charities and local causes we support.

This year we are focusing on this and are bringing you two live bands, two DJs and a trad seisiún to boot!

Once again we are hoping to highlight the relationship between food and beer by bringing you the Food Garden. Also this year we will for the first time run into Sunday and bring you the BBQ@Baldwins with live band. With three butchers living in Annascaul this is a BBQ not to be missed.

All that remains now is for the rain to stay away... fat chance!

Tom Crean's Premium Irish Lager

Tom Crean's Premium Irish Lager was the star of last year's Beerfest, making its debut as it did, and we expect it to be no less of an attraction this year. The lager itself is brewed by the Dingle Brewing Company only ten miles west over the road in Dingle. Where else would be a better place to have your first taste of Crean's than in the pub of the man who bears its name?

Food Garden

There will be no alcohol allowed in the Food Garden, this is the Tom Crean Memorial Garden and we would not like to sully the honour bestowed upon our event by the Tom Crean Society, who have kindly allowed us to use this space. Feel free to check out the food, pose with the statue and relax in the memory of a great Irish hero.

World Beers

The world beers are brought to you by Beer Heaven and include brands from central Europe, the Far East as well as from the Antipodes.

Irish Craft Beers

We are only beginning to appreciate the demand for Irish-made, micro-brewery beers. Tom Crean's Premium Irish Lager certainly falls under this heading. However we are proud to bring you some more local produce from the West Kerry Brewery as well as the recently bottled Rebel Red Ale from the Franciscan Well, Cork.

Full of Barley?

We know that some of you like to taste a few of the beers but prefer a lighter option after a while. Therefore we are proud to bring GECKO to the Randy Leprechaun. This is a premium imported Nordic vodka. Expect a limited amount of cocktail specials on the night!

Sunday Best

This year, for the first time the Annascaul Beerfest will officially run into Sunday.

BBQ@Baldwin's: Live Band at 3 p.m. on Sunday

BBQ@Baldwin's promises to be a relaxed atmosphere with live band and tasty BBQ. Where the event goes after this though...
